Kentucky Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control joins Social Networking Site Facebook

Frankfort, Ky. (March 7, 2012) -- The Kentucky Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control has joined the rapidly growing number of government agencies with a presence on the popular social networking site Facebook.

The page, available at <http://www.facebook.com/#!/KentuckyABC>, is a way to provide instantaneous, two-way communication with individuals involved in the alcohol industry as well as community stakeholders.

"The ABC is always looking for ways to communicate with our clients," said ABC Commissioner Tony Dehner. "We post information and photographs of training workshops, community awareness events and public meetings, along with links to helpful information such as press releases and news and magazine articles. Our goal is to provide as many avenues as possible to keep the public informed of our operations."

In addition to the Facebook page, ABC information is available on the agency's website at <http://abc.ky.gov/Pages/default.aspx>.
